Gun Lake Casino hires Brett Miller as Director of Security

(Wayland, Mich.) – Gun Lake Casino is pleased to announce the addition of Brett Miller as the new Director of Security. Most recently Miller served as a security manager at Firekeepers Casino Hotel in Battle Creek where he managed over 40 security officers.

“Brett has all of the characteristics we were looking for in this role. His 13 years of experience of casino management, training, hiring and day-to-day operations make him a perfect fit for the position,” said Gun Lake Casino CEO, Sal Semola. “We’re excited to have Brett onboard as GLC continues to build towards the future.”

Miller attended Kellogg Community College and completed the criminal justice program in 2002. He replaces Director of Security Steve Sandack who recently retired and will be responsible for complete oversight of the security team and sustaining quality relationships with tribal, state and local law enforcement.

Aside from his successful career in casino security, Miller is also an AHA CPR instructor, has trained in several different areas including hazardous material operations, and is certified by Homeland Security in Tribal Emergency Management. Miller also has nearly 20 years of fire and EMS service around West Michigan.
